

Families Illustrated: Teaching Family Life with Film and Television

NCFR Conference, November 8, 2006 Minneapolis, MN

Workshop Evaluation and More!

Workshop Evaluation	Strongly Disagree	Dis- Agree	Neutral	Agree	Strongly Agree
As a result of attending this workshop, I am ... more knowledgeable about the benefits of teaching with movies and television	1	2	3	4	5
more knowledgeable of resources to help me teach about family life with film and television	1	2	3	4	5
more confident that I could use feature films or television as an instructional method when teaching about family life or youth development	1	2	3	4	5

If there is anything else that you gained from this workshop, that is not listed above, please tell us here:

About the workshop	Strongly Disagree	Dis- Agree	Neutral	Agree	Strongly Agree
It was well-organized	1	2	3	4	5
It used the time well	1	2	3	4	5
Offered materials and resources that I will use in the future:	1	2	3	4	5
The speakers were engaging and effective	1	2	3	4	5
Presented information on the topics I wanted to learn	1	2	3	4	5

If there are other topics related to teaching with film and television that you would like to have learned about – or learned more about, please list them here:

--Over Please --

About You:

Please tell us a bit about you and how you use or might use movies and television in your teaching.

What is your profession, or other position that allows you to teach about family life?

Who is your primary audience(s) that you would use film and television to teach?

- Parents
- Professionals
- College students
- Teenagers
- Children in elementary or middle school
- Other

What topics would you most be likely to want to use film or television to teach?

If you currently use film or television to teach, what learning supplements do you use (discussion questions, observation guide, out of class assignments, etc.)?

Tell us which films and/or television programs you use in teaching or suggested films or television programs to teach with

Film/Television Title	Concept used to teach

Thank you! Please remember to visit us at www.familiesillustrated.org